New Trout

Anglers who plan to wet a line over the Labor Day holiday will find both the Carmel and Big Sur Rivers freshly restocked with catchable trout.

The stocking, according to the Fish and Game Department, will depend on planting conditions. If waters get muddied or other unsuitable factors intercede, the schedule will be changed.

Members of the association will raise money for the fund by selling tickets for a drawing, the prize to be the selection of any $500 painting by any artist in the association's gallery. The drawing will be held in November.

For further information, inquire at the Carmel Art Association between 5th and 6th on Dolores, 624-6176.

School Registration

Children new to Carmel School District may register through Friday, Aug. 30 and Tuesday, Sept. 3 through Sept. 6, 8 a.m. to 3 p.m. Immunization records are needed.

Kindergarten children will need birth certificates and must be five before Dec. 2, 1968.

The new baptistry at All Saints' Episcopal Church with its striking stained glass windows designed by Mark Adams of San Francisco, will be dedicated Sunday morning, Sept. 1 at the 9:30 a.m. service.

The baptistry was given in memory of Polly Curtis Firestone, resident of Pebble Beach who died in 1965. Her youngest grandson, Leonard Firestone, son of Kimball and Laurie Firestone of Akron, Ohio, will be baptized during the service. Donor was Leonard Firestone of Pebble Beach and Beverly Hills.

Architect for the new baptistry was Will Shaw of Burde and Shaw Associates. Contractor was Harold C. Geyer.

In Memoriam

At the hour of four o'clock yesterday afternoon — its regular meeting time — the Carmel Planning Commission met only to adjourn in memory of its senior member, George Willox, who had suffered a fatal heart attack just after midnight the preceding evening, and died at 12:30 a.m.

First appointed to the Commission Feb. 17, 1954, he had served on it continuously since that time. On Feb. 27, 1957, he was elected chairman by his fellow commissioners, and served a term as head of that municipal body.

Born at Glasgow, Scotland, Feb. 12, 1903, George Willox came to Canada with his family at the age of six settling at London, Ontario, where he attended the Victoria Grammar School and later high school. He came to the United States to receive his college education, matriculating at the University of Michigan where he studied architecture.

After completing his formal education, he moved to Texas where he practiced his profession before settling in Southern California. Following his residence there, he came to Carmel, where he joined the staff of Robert Stanton, who was then engaged in many large architectural projects.

During the World War II years, Willox was engaged in design work for U.S. Navy projects, and was headquartered at Honolulu. Upon his return to Carmel, he re-joined the Stanton staff, where he became head designer before leaving to begin his own practice of architecture, which he continued in the years that followed.

In addition to his long service on the Carmel Planning Commission, Willox had also served a four-year term on the Monterey Peninsula Area Planning Commission. Also, in 1962, he was appointed by then Governor "Pat" Brown to the California State Planning Commission on which he had served until this year.

Private services for George Willox were held yesterday at the Mission Mortuary in Monterey. He is survived by his wife, Lori, whom he married on April 26, 1947, and his sister, Mrs. Arthur Cole of Engelhart, Ontario, Canada.

Former Mayor Frank Putnam, who served many years on the Carmel Planning Commission with George Willox, said of him:

"His 14 years of devoted, dedicated, selfless service to the City of Carmel—sometimes at great personal sacrifice—is something for which no spoken thanks could ever be enough. His untimely passing is not only a great loss to his family and to the City of Carmel, but a great personal shock to me."

Grand Opera, 1-Room School, 'Pop' Concert, Cultural Aims Get Commission's Attention

By GUNNAR NORBERG

Should Carmel take tentative steps to encourage the production of an original opera, to be presented at Sunset Auditorium or on the outdoor stage at the Forest Theater as part of the state bi-centennial celebration in 1970?

Should the concept of using the Girl Scout cottage at Sunset Center as a one-room school to replace the one at Palo Colorado, ordered closed recently by the school board, be approved?

Should a "pop" concert with "amplified sound" be permitted on the outdoor stage at the Forest Theater?

Should the Carmel Cultural Commission expand its existing avenues of service to the community, such as the free Sunday afternoon programs at the Forest Theater? Should they be extended into Sunday afternoon affairs at Sunset after the summer Forest Theater programs end? Should the Cultural Commission hold art exhibits? If so, should they be outdoors, indoors, or both?

Should Carmel consider initiating a Shakespearean festival? Or some other type of music or drama festival?

These questions, and others immediately related to them, occupied the attention of the Carmel Cultural Commission at last Monday night's meeting.

The possibility of taking the initiative in preparations for the production of a locally composed three-act opera was suggested in a proposal made to the commission at its July meeting.

Axel Duwe, director of the Academy of Music in Seaside and a conductor with wide experience with the production of opera in Europe, suggested Frank Lucido of Monterey, who has written an opera as yet unproduced. Duwe felt Lucido's piece merited production and expressed an opinion that the Sunset Auditorium, of all Peninsula possibilities, was best suited to the production of an opera.

However, Duwe insisted that an orchestra pit would have to be constructed before an opera could be presented.

Last Monday night, Cultural Commission chairman D. Paul Medalie asked the members of his group whether they wished to pursue the matter of participation in a possible world-premiere opera production in the 1970 bi-centennial per-

New Courses Approved By School Board

Two new courses, Exploring Books, and Law for Laymen, to be held in Carmel and Carmel Valley, were added to the Carmel Adult School program approved by the Carmel School Board last night. The classes begin Sept. 10.

Approval was given the new English Language Course of Study for California Public Schools, as presented by Dr. James Halcomb. Emphasis in lower grades will be on speaking, listening, reading and writing skills.

Mr. Edwin McCurry, new principal at River School, showed films and described the pilot summer school for elementary children. He and a committee recommended the use of neighborhood schools open to all who wished to come, as well as extension to five or six weeks next summer.

Heart examinations to detect unrecognized heart disease among children by means of a small transistorized computer, the Phono-CardioScan, by the Central Mission Trails Association, was approved.

Palo Colorado area students were given the alternative to attend River School instead of Captain Cooper School. Norman Godbe, head of the canyon parents' association, offered to poll parents.

The proposal to approve the holding of a "pop" concert with what was called "amplified sound" gave the Cultural Commission con-

Commissioner Donald Teague, who had written out his resignation, was prevailed upon to withdraw it, which he did.

Albuquerque to Carmel Via the PINE CONE

Mrs. Robert D. Forrester of Carmel Valley entertained last Sunday at the Carmel Pine Inn's lavish champagne luncheon. The guest of honor was Mrs. John R. Snyder of Albuquerque, New Mexico.

This was the Snyders' first visit to Carmel in eight years. Prior to that time they came every summer with their young son and now they hope to settle in Carmel.

An interesting sidelight is that the Snyders have kept in touch with Carmel through the "PINE CONE" to which they have been subscribers all this time. Mrs. Forrester came to know Mrs. Snyder via the "PINE CONE's" column "Party Plans".

Carol Ann Hemmelgarn Married

The wedding of Carol Ann Hemmelgarn, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William A. Hemmelgarn of Carmel, to Erik Lynn Wood took place recently at the Grace Baptist Church in Richmond, California.

The double ring ceremony was performed by the groom's father, Reverend George Wood.

Given in marriage by her father, who is associated with The Pine Cone, the bride wore a Chantilly lace gown with sweetheart neckline and sweeping chapel train. Her headpiece cluster of leaves outlined in pearls held a silk illusion veil. She carried a bouquet of white carnations, stephanotis and baby ivy.

For her matron of honor Carol chose her sister, Mrs. Neil W. Oudejans. Her other sister, Miss Harriet Lee Hemmelgarn, was included among the four bridesmaids. All were dressed in long mint green gowns and carried nosegays of yellow carnations.

Rhode Island served as best man and ushers included Carl Wood, the brother of the groom.

The couple will live in Newport, Rhode Island where the groom is stationed with the U. S. Navy.

Carol was graduated from Cupertino High School in 1966 and attended Portland Community College in Oregon until last year when she was employed in San Francisco. She has three brothers, Charles, in Alaska, Daniel, in Norwalk, and William III, in the Navy.

Erik was graduated from Piedmont High School before entering the Navy.

Strosnider-Meyrose Nuptials

The bells at All Saints' Episcopal Church rang joyously after the wedding of Sandra Strosnider of Carmel and Grover Douglas Meyrose of Big Sur on August 17. Father David Hill performed the three o'clock service assisted by Arthur Cunningham.

Sandra is the daughter of Charles M. Strosnider who represents The Pine Cone, and June G. Paul of Sydney, Australia. Her sister, Mrs. Rich (Lesley) Avery of Glendale, and grandmother, Mrs. Grace McCallum of Boston and San Francisco were also present, as was her uncle, Dr. Geoffrey Paul of San Francisco.

She has two other sisters, Robin and Gay Strosnider, who live in Sydney.

Doug is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Peter Meyrose of Big Sur and the grandson of long-time Big Sur residents, Mr. and Mrs. Grover Meyrose. He has a brother, Kenneth, of Big Sur.

Sandra's wedding gown was of peau de soie in princess style with applied flowers. Both the gown and the ballerina length veil decorated with a bow appliqued with flowers, were made by Mrs. Gentry McKinney of Pebble Beach, who also planned and assisted the bride in preparations for the wedding. Sandra carried a hand bouquet of red roses and white carnations.

Joanne Bray of Carmel Valley was matron of honor and Pamela McKinney of Pebble Beach, her other attendant. Both wore Empire line gowns in deep pink trimmed with light pink, and carried hand bouquets.

Robert R. Bray of Carmel Valley served as best man and Nick Lemon of Monterey as usher.

A reception was held at the Carmel Women's Club.

New Photography Exhibit

Four leading Oregon photographers will be featured in an exhibit opening tonight at the Carmel Photography Center. The Center, sponsored by Friends of Photography, is located in the Carmel Cultural Center, 8th and San Carlos, Carmel.

A public reception will be held from 8 to 10:30 p.m. this evening to inaugurate the exhibit, according to Ansel Adams, president of the group. Beginning tomorrow, August 30th, the Center will be open to visitors daily from 1 to 4 p.m., except Mondays. The exhibit will be at the Center for approximately six weeks. Admission is free.

The four noted Oregon photographers are Bernard L. Freemesser, Alfred A. Monner, Gerald H. Robinson, and Elmar Wefers, all of whom have exhibited and published nationally.

Monner, a photographer for the Portland daily newspapers since 1937, has had photos published in Life, Time, Look, National Geographic, Aperature and others, plus illustrations in many books.

His works have appeared in 21 major shows, chiefly in the Northwest, but also in invitational shows at the George Eastman House, Rochester, N. Y. His prints are in the permanent collection of Portland Art Museum, University of Oregon Art Museum, University of Oregon Art Museum, E. B. Crocker Art Gallery, Sacramento, and Eastman House.

An associate professor of photo journalism at the University of Oregon, Freemesser was with the Eastman Kodak Company before moving West as technical director of Northwest Photographic Illustrators, doing TV documentaries and magazine work.

At the University of Oregon he has been a leader in developing summer graduate programs for college instructors in photography. A past president of the Oregon Press Photographers Association, he is currently chairman of the Society for Photographic Education, an international society of photography educators.

Robinson, a practicing attorney in Portland, is well-known in the Northwest for his excellent photography. He has taught photography at the Museum Art School and at the University of Oregon.

He has participated in 15 group shows and four one-man shows as widely separated as the Massachusetts Institute of Technology and The University of Oregon Museum of Art. His publications vary from Aperature to Popular Photography.

Elmar Wefers, a native of Germany, is another leading Portland photographer. He is in demand as a workshop participant and consultant, and has appeared with Brett Weston, Minor White, Imogene Cunningham and others. He has exhibited in the United States, Europe and the Orient.

Reviews for Young Readers

By Allene Fremier

For the fans of Brian Wildsmith, we have a new picture book called WILD ANIMALS. His colorful and imaginative drawings show "a pride of lions," "an ambush of tigers," an "array of hedgehogs," and a "skulk of foxes," as well as other groups.

"Children, do any of you know what conservation is?"

"I think conservation has something to do with saving, Miss Prim—like making the box of marshmallows last two weeks instead of gobbling them all down in a sitting." So begins THE BARBARA HAZEN BOOK OF CONSERVATION, with such characters as Bobby Boyd, Martha, Malcolm, Iggy, Einstein, Muscles Mahoney and others, discussing the facts about conservation. PLEASE PROTECT THE PORCUPINE is the title of this gentle and amusing approach to conservation. In one chapter, Bobby Boyd writes to his congressman. "Dear Congressman Crabtree: I would like to know how you stand on mosquitoes . . . F. Myron Crabtree answers him in the following way: "It is hard to take a firm stand on mosquitoes, as anyone knows who has tried." He then goes on to give some helpful hints, as well as to announce that he is sending Bobby a "Be Kind to Critters Button" and a copy of his latest filibuster entitled "Caterpillars at the Crossroads of Our Community." It is a pleasant approach to an important subject.

Helen Bratton, whose home is Carmel, has a new book out, which is now in the library. ONLY IN TIME tells the story of Lyle Meredith, a young violinist who has come to a music camp to try for a scholarship. She is also trying to live with a facial scar. She is overly sensitive, until someone else's problems seem larger. She is an excellent musician, and she gains confidence as she finds that she is accepted for the kind of person she is, not out of pity. It is a fast-moving story, with some good lessons in it.

Two non-fiction books deserve mention. RELIGIONS AROUND THE WORLD, by Leonard and Carolyn Wolcott tells in simple terms about the great religions. There is a chapter devoted to each one—Hindu, Buddhism, Chinese religions, Judaism, Christianity and Islam—plus separate chapters on the beginnings of religions and religions today. The other book is THE ART AND SCIENCE OF COLOR, by Hal Hellman.

PARTY PLANS . . .

by Phyllis Jervey

'The Pine Inn's Sunday Brunch'

Something different and very sophisticated has been added to the Pine Inn's Sunday menu in Carmel. This great weekend innovation, the breakfast that's really lunch or vice versa, is a Sunday institution after church or golf.

A perfect solution for late-risers, it is so easy on the hostess to take house guests to the Pine Inn's continental and lavish brunch. Served buffet style in efficient elegance it is patterned after the English Hunt breakfast.

What an array of entrees from which to choose! Starting with a glass of iced champagne at the table one trips joyfully to the candlelit Crystal Room where a fruit display of fresh pineapple slices, poached pears, blueberries and melon circles tempts one.

Next come the hot dishes served from steaming containers and consisting of fluffy scrambled eggs, crisp bacon and frizzled ham or thick pieces of baked ham and small brown sausages; then a crock of tiny Swedish meatballs in cream sauce; shrimp au gratin; saffron rice or mixed wild and white rice; toasted English muffins on which to ladle some creamed chip beef, sauteed chicken livers in sherry or turkey a la king.

No wonder it is so simple to go to the Pine Inn instead of trying to duplicate this amazing variety at home. Hot tea and coffee and you certainly can call it a day as far as nourishment. The charm of it all is the perfect service and beautiful setting. And everyone eats as little or as much as they wish, each to his or her own choice with Monday's diet still far enough away not to interfere.

Jacques Van Seters, assistant manager of the Pine Inn has dreamed up this Sunday specialty. Trained in famous hotels and restaurants in Holland, France and Switzerland this young Hollander also was chief steward on the Holland American Line's "Nieuw Amsterdam" and other luxury ships.

Jacques generously gave us several gourmet recipes served at dinner at the Pine Inn. His suggestions include dishes featured at Sunday's Champagne Brunch and daily dinner specialties. Perhaps you would like to try them at home when time is not pressing.

Brunch Swedish Meatballs

Meatballs: 5 T. butter;  $\frac{3}{4}$  T. finely chopped onion;  $\frac{3}{4}$  cup light cream;  $\frac{3}{4}$  cup dry bread crumbs;  $1\frac{1}{2}$  lbs. ground chuck;  $\frac{1}{2}$  lb. ground pork; 2 eggs, lightly beaten; 2 t. salt;  $\frac{1}{4}$  t. pepper;  $\frac{1}{4}$  t. allspice; dash of powdered cloves.

In 1 T. butter heated in skillet, saute onion 3 minutes, or until golden. In large bowl, combine cream,  $\frac{3}{4}$  cup water and bread crumbs. Add onion, meat and seasonings; toss lightly with fork to mix well. With teaspoon, shape into small meatballs about  $\frac{3}{4}$  inch in diameter. In 2 T. hot butter in same skillet, saute meatballs, a few at a time, until browned on all sides. Add more butter as needed. Remove meatballs and keep warm. To make the sauce: Remove all but 2 T. drippings from skillet. Stir in 2 T. flour until smooth. Gradually stir in cream and  $1\frac{1}{2}$  cups water; bring to boiling, stirring and adding 1 t. salt, dash of pepper and 1 t. Worcestershire. Add meatballs and serve garnished with parsley sprigs. Keep hot in chafing dish. Serve over rice or buttered noodles. Recipe serves 8.

Poultry a la King

One fourth lb. fresh mushrooms;  $\frac{1}{4}$  cup butter, melted;  $\frac{1}{2}$  green pepper, chopped; 3 T. flour;  $\frac{1}{2}$  t. salt; 1 cup turkey or chicken broth or bouillon; 1 cup milk; dash of pepper;  $\frac{1}{4}$  t. turmeric; 1 t. sugar;  $\frac{1}{2}$  cup heavy cream; 2 egg yolks, slightly beaten; 2 cups large cubes roasted, skinned turkey or chicken; sherry; chopped pimiento; paprika.

Slice washed mushrooms diagonally. In hot butter, saute mushrooms and green pepper until tender. Remove from heat, stir in flour and salt until smooth. Blend in broth and milk. Cook over low heat, stirring constantly until mixture thickens smoothly. Stir in seasonings and blend cream into egg yolks; stir into thickened sauce. Add poultry, sherry to taste, pimiento. Serve on toasted English muffin halves, sprinkle tops with paprika. Keep hot in chafing dish or electric warmer. Serves 6.

following the close of the summer musical season this week, is the fun-filled comedy "Come Blow Your Horn" which opens Sept. 6.

With its 677 performances on Broadway, Neil Simon established himself in the top rank of comic playwrights. His stature has since been confirmed by hits like "Barefoot In The Park" and "The Odd Couple" which were presented at the Studio last fall.

In "Come Blow Your Horn," Simon mixes a stodgy businessman, his bewildered wife, their playboy son and a runaway younger brother in an interplay of comic complications that delighted reviewers and audiences alike.

Directed by Gary Eldridge, "Come Blow Your Horn" will run Friday, Saturday and Sunday nights at the Studio for seven weekends from Sept. 6 through Oct. 20. Reservations may be made at 624-1661 or 624-2321.

Movie Review

The Detective: Frank Sinatra plays the title role in a melodrama about homosexual violence, police corruption, and some other aspects of the sordid and brutal side of New York.

Five Card Stud: Produced and directed by Hal Wallis and Henry Hathaway, this western stars Dean Martin, Robert Mitchum, and Inger Stevens.

Gone with the Wind: The classic American motion picture. Set in the South during and after the Civil War the picture stars Clark Gable, Vivian Leigh, Leslie Howard and Olivia de Havilland.

Fantastic Voyage: Science fiction fantasy where a group of men and women journey through the body in a miniaturized space ship.

Camelot: A splendid film version of the musical based on Arthurian legend which blends fantasy and touching realism. Outstanding performances.

Therese and Isabelle: Story of homosexual relationship between two girls at school. Produced and directed in France.

For Love of Ivy: A warm and well-done romantic comedy about an affair between Sidney Poitier and Abbey Lincoln.

A Man and a Woman: An incredibly beautiful film by Claude LeLouch, this is a simple, universal love story about a young widow and widower portrayed by the beautiful Anouk Aimee and Jean-Louis Trintignant. Received the Best Foreign Picture Academy Award.

The Devil's Brigade: This is one of those war pictures where the struggles are won by lovable roughnecks who sing "For He's a Jolly Good Fellow" to their commander. Here William Holden has charge of a unit made up of American misfits and a crack Canadian regiment. Cliff Robertson and Vince Edwards are in the cast.

Hang 'Em High: Deputy Marshal Clint Eastwood has trouble keeping personal vengeance out of his grim job as he hunts the vigilantes who tried to lynch him. Ed Begley at his villainous best.

Will Penny: Charlton Heston, Joan Hackett and Donald Pleasence turn in good performances against backdrop of staggering beauty in this generally successful western about an aging, lonely cowboy.

Theatre Guide

"Streetcar Named Desire": Really marvelous performance of a great play. Characterizations of the aging Southern belle, her younger sister who has married a rough, sadistic type, and the husband, are tops.

"Seven Keys to Baldpate": Hilarious mystery comedy about the writer who retires to a lonely place to write, but is interrupted by a beautiful girl, thieves, a crazy hermit, crooks, etc. Well acted.

"Carnival": Musical fantasy about a company of traveling troupers. The little girl who comes to join them has an appealing personality and an enchanting voice.

Barney Segal Back From Africa

Barney Segal, manager of the Carmel Savings and Loan Association, returned last week from a two-month safari in Africa.

He took moving pictures of many of the spectacular sights in that great continent such as Victoria Falls, Muchison Falls, the Nile and Zambrizi rivers, and the big parks in Ethiopia, Kenya, southern Tanzania and Nigeria.

Every kind of transportation was utilized including four wheel drive Land Rovers on rough roads.

He also spent several days in London, Rome and Greece, but he's glad to be back in Carmel where he can relive the trip via maps and pictures.

Amusing bed of succulents in North Parade park in Bath, England.

potpourri

What do you mean when you say "Hawaii?" Honolulu, Diamond Head and Oahu?

Lovely hula hands and the swish of grass skirts? Ukuleles strumming and beach boys surfing?

The trite and the commonplace are easy, and the traveler who forgets that there are four other major islands in the State of Hawaii is tossing away his travel dollar.

Hawaii, the "Big Island," has lovely Mauna Loa, the fire goddess of the ancients. And a huge cattle ranch. With Hawaiian cowboys.

So the traveler who parks on the "Beach at Waikiki" is missing most of the great thrills of visiting the 50th State.

Does Acapulco bring to mind dark-skinned Mexican boys bent in a graceful swan dive as they plummet toward the swirling waters of the Pacific far below the city's menacing rocks?

You'll miss a great deal if you don't remember that some of the most exciting archaeological discoveries in the Americas are taking place less than half a day's journey from Acapulco.

Do you still retain the old cliche about Alaska being the deep-freeze of North America?

Of fur-swathed Eskimos shivering around a fire of whale blubber in an icy igloo?

Some of the most fertile agricultural land in the United States is located in Alaska's Matanuska Valley, where visitors are amazed at the tropical nature of the produce grown during the long summer season.

Certainly the tendency is to follow the herd, to slide along with the crowd as it explores the cliches of travel.

But the traveler who pokes into the remote corners of the countries in which he travels; who meets the people nose-to-nose and takes a deep breath; who learns that the cultural values of the United States of America are not necessarily the absolute correct ones, the only good ones, the only ones with validity, and who comes to realize that perhaps rubbing noses is a more sanitary method of greeting, albeit not so thrilling (until you've tried it), is a traveler who certainly is getting the most for his travel dollar.

Carmel Travelers

Invasion Inklings in Prague

When Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Klene were in Prague, Czechoslovakia last month, they wondered why they were put out of their hotel after three days, although they had paid for eight days.

They were told by Intourist that all the hotels were needed by "journalists."

They thought Prague was beautiful and watched a cathedral being repaired. They heard a marvelous rehearsal by the Czech Philharmonic Orchestra of a cello concerto by Prokofieff played by a Czech cellist.

On the plane to Copenhagen they read in a magazine about the White Nights Art Festival in Leningrad and proceeded to get visas for Russia. After a breakfast of caviar on the plane to Russia, they enjoyed the packed concerts there. The audiences in Leningrad go mad about the music and clap in rhythm. At the end, about half walk up to the stage.

They were most enthusiastic about their month in Yugoslavia where the beautiful scenery, as well as evidences of previous conquerors such as the Greeks, Romans, Byzantines, Venetians, are inexhaustible. Eastern Yugoslavia has many mosques and minarets showing Turkish influence.

They took many trips by small boats between the islands along the Dalmatian coast.

In Rijeka, they met the family of Ante Lakos, an English teacher, whom they had entertained in Carmel three years ago. At that time Mr. Lakos was one of 40 English teachers from all over the world who were guests of the State Department.

Their two weeks in Vienna during the music festival was packed with concerts and opera, 12 evenings of the 14. They were able to walk everywhere.

Budapest in contrast was a beautiful but sad city: dirty, with broken windows, torn curtains, but they heard some good gypsy music.

The Klens sailed from Amsterdam after hearing an all Russian concert in the Festival there.

It was certainly a musical summer which is not surprising considering how active the Klens are musically in Carmel.

Impressions On England

Ruth Goddard Bixler wrote The Pine Cone recently from The Manor of God-be-Got, Winchester, England to get her friends up to date about her travels abroad since May.

She flew to London with the Reverends Dorothy and Mel Smith of Carmel. There she again inspected the Elgin marbles at the British Museum preparatory to her trip to Athens.

The flower show at Chelsea caught her fancy, especially the dusty pink, blue and lavender roses, recently developed, called Lara, Sterling and Moonlight, respectively.

Friends in Tunbridge Wells took her to see the castle home of R. Sackville West with its English gardens, one white, another purple, and still another one yellow.

She was impressed by the acres of yellow, peach, apricot and orange rhododendrons and azaleas at the Leonardslee Gardens at Horsham, Sussex.

The home of Winston Churchill at Chartwell, its spacious gardens and river, seeing his paintings, and the many mementos and gifts, combined to make a memorable experience.

She and the Smiths visited 16th Century Tudor houses with carved beams and eaves in the area where Kipling lived and had tea in the inn where Thomas Paine formerly lived.

On the Isle of Wight, she found an inn, The Peacock Vane, filled with lovely antiques, chintz covered furniture, dining room with finest Sheffield silver, candlelight, Spanish waiters and gourmet food.

While there the shocking news of the second assassination in the Kennedy family arrived. The attitude of the English people became especially warm and friendly as if to express sympathy in an almost personal grief.

She saw Sir Alec Guinness in Eliot's "The Cocktail Party," an interesting psychological play, in Chichester.

Her next stop was Winchester on the River Itch, first capital of England, rich in the history of Alfred who happens to be one of her ancestors. In the castle there she saw the famous painting of King Arthur and his Knights, newly painted when Henry VIII came to visit.

Mrs. Bixler stayed at the ancient 15th Century Inn of God-Begot, Tudor with massive beams, low ceilings, wobbly floors, quaint leaded windows, only about 12 rooms, each with a Celtic name.

A former Carmel resident, Lady Emily Coote, was her hostess for a few days in Shaftesbury. She had rebuilt and modernized a charming old house and developed a lovely garden. Some paintings of our older Carmel artists hang in her home, notably a Ritschel with two glorious fish which he had painted in Samoa.

The area around Stonehenge and Glastonbury fascinated her, where the famous thorn tree, grown from an offshoot of the one which was said to have grown and blossomed when Joseph thrust his staff into the ground at Weary Hill; the famous Chalice Well whose waters are supposed to have sprung from the Holy Grail.

She arrived in Bath just in time for the festival of which Yeudi Menuhin is director. Her hotel faced the North Parade Park and River Avon with its Florentine bridge. On one side William Wadsworth had lived, and on the other side Edmund Burke and Oliver Goldsmith. At the South Parade, had lived Sir Walter Scott.

She loved the 18th Century architecture and noticed that the shops are somewhat like those of Carmel, multiplied. From there she took the train to Edinburgh.

CARMEL-BY-THE-SEA

CARMEL is a breath of fresh air, an awareness of beauty. The materialist says of Carmel, "corny," nothin' to do. The idealist glimpses something of reality and a meaning of life in this area of great beauty.

Located, as Carmel is, almost on the west edge of the west coast, it benefits from clean Pacific air, filtered and conditioned by thousands of miles of ocean. It is snuggled into an intimate bay where it receives protection from northerly winds and is guarded by nearby Point Lobos and the Santa Lucia Mountains.

Some Carmel Business Association facts are included in the following:

BRIEF HISTORY

CARMEL-BY-THE-SEA is a residential community and art center located on the Pacific shore of Monterey County, California, 130 miles south of San Francisco and 350 miles north of Los Angeles.

Carmel is an informal, individualist town with a citizenry that constantly strives to preserve the natural beauty of ocean, hills and woods. Homes nestle around and under trees on the slopes that rise from the world-famous white sands of Carmel Beach. Local ordinances tightly restrict business zones (i.e., none on the Beach front), outlaw billboard and neon advertising, and control indiscriminate tree cutting.

Carmel has no cemetery, no mail delivery, no street addresses (mail is picked up at the local post office), and except for the business district, conventional sidewalks and street lights are missing.

The village is culturally active in music, art and little theatre groups, and features locally-made art objects in many gift shops.

CARMEL was named for the Carmelite Friars who came to the area with Viscaïno in 1602. Carmel's first building, the Mission San Carlos de Borromeo (second of the great Franciscan Missions in California) was established by Father Junipero Serra in 1770.

In the early 1900's, the village of Carmel began around a group of young artists and writers. Five hundred residents living in an area of 7/8 of one square mile incorporated Carmel-by-the-Sea in 1916 and established a Mayor and City Council government.

Chamber Music Class At MPC

When Monterey Peninsula College opens its fall semester September 10 with 114 classes—largest number in its history—it will include among its offerings a class taught by one of the most distinguished musicians of our day.

The class is chamber music. The instructor is Jascha Veissi, famed solo and concert violist and recently retired director of chamber music at Scripps College, who will join the MPC staff for a year as "artist-in-residence."

Veissi will instruct the class "for adults" (no college credit unless desired) Tuesdays, 7 to 10 p.m. in Room M-1. Permission of the instructor is a prerequisite. A public concert at the end of the season is dependent, Veissi says, upon the make-up, quality and professionalism of the group.

Persons interested in joining the group, who must be fairly experienced in the playing of strings, woodwinds, brass or piano, are urged to register on campus Sept. 4, 5 or 6, 6:30 to 9 p.m. Acceptance will be subject to Veissi's approval at the first meeting of the class.

Finally Made It . . .

"To Carmel," an out-of-state subscriber said in phoning a change of address to the Pine Cone. "We felt we already knew a lot about the Village through your paper. We really enjoy it. And we also found a house to rent through a Pine Cone advertiser."

William Watts Spanish Church in Laky Collection

The Laky Galleries, Ltd. is now in its final weeks of its liquidation sale. The collector may still find a substantial and exciting selection to choose from.

Carmel artist Kieth Lindberg is well represented by his spontaneous impressions done in strong colors and bold brush work. Zyta Laky's oils have substance and vitality. Especially fine are her paintings of memories of a childhood in Hungary: one small jewel in particular of plunging horses drawing a troika.

The sensitive and dreamlike scenes of Venice by Giorgio Valenzin are very close to irresistible.

Wonderful, old-time Carmel artists, William Watts, Armin Hansen, John O'Shea more than hold their own hanging alongside the newer artists.

This appears to be a good opportunity for art lovers to add to their collection of fine paintings at a price advantage.

Starting September 7 the Zantman Galleries will exhibit the works of Minnesota born and trained Robert Clark. The Zantman Galleries have been the sole representative for this artist's work during the past nine years.

Mr. Clark's principal painting medium is the difficult to handle egg tempore. His work is expertly completed and his construction is strongly reminiscent of Andrew Wyeth.

brown; season with salt, pepper and paprika. Top each steak with cream king crabmeat. Serve with buttered hot asparagus tips and Bearnaise sauce (similar to hollandaise).

Crab Victoria au Gratin

Make a cream sauce rich with beaten egg yolks, seasoned with sherry. Add king crabmeat in large pieces. Sprinkle heavily with freshly grated parmesan cheese and run under broiler until puffy and light brown.

And if you want something really de luxe, ask for the Pine Inn's "Banquet of the Sea Cocktail, Sauce Armagnac" which is a supreme melange of seafood, mayonnaise, ketchup, dry sherry, coarse black pepper, cream, salt to taste, all stirred together gently and finished off with French cognac. Why go to Europe when Carmel has challenging dishes like these?

On A Clear Day

Clear days and dry roads are the motorists' greatest invitation to tragedy. An annual survey by The Travelers Insurance Companies shows that approximately 80 per cent of 1967's 52,200 highway deaths occurred in this type of weather.

MPC Faculty Honored

Deforest Sweeney of Carmel, long time faculty member of Monterey Peninsula College, was honored recently by the college board of trustees for outstanding leadership as humanities division chairman in effecting substantial revision in the English curriculum, and activity in the college community.

Elliot Roberts of Carmel Valley, was also recognized, although a "relatively new" English instructor, for developing with notable success new techniques for teaching students who have difficulties.

The men were given "skip-step" salary raises.

A Mid-Year Report to*The All Saints' Episcopal Church Parish

I want you to know about some of the summer activities in our parish family.

1. Led by Bob Priestley and Eldon Dedini, the Men's Club has begun an important project of providing male companionship to fatherless boys. One hiking expedition has been made to the Pinnacles National Monument; others are scheduled.

2. The new Drug Information Center has opened in our facilities inside the Lincoln Street entrance, and already won an amazing acceptance in the community. Two large-scale meetings have been held to capacity in our parish hall, and pastoral referral work has increased.

3. The Summer Book Fair, sponsored by St. Bede's Guild, was very successful. Proceeds go for the expansion of parish and school libraries, as well as several seminary libraries.

4. The Sunday morning Children's Activity sessions are building great interest for the Fall Sunday School program. A new group of teachers has been recruited and their training begins soon. Several different groups of students—Junior High and High school—are meeting regularly now.

5. The Santa Lucia Chapel grounds in Big Sur are in continual use this summer. A diocesan family camp, parish groups and families from the Bay Area, two sessions of teenagers from the inner city of Oakland all have come to this beautiful wilderness area. The current session has a group of Stanford University students as counsellors. The use of these grounds will probably double again next summer and the Vestry is concerned for proper planning and use. (Architect Nathaniel Owings, a resident of Big Sur, developed the first Master Plan for the site.) The August meeting of the Vestry will be held on the grounds with several "experts" in planning and use as guests.

6. The exciting interracial, interfaith CAMP AMIGOS was carried through with great skill. Next year an increased and improved program is to be developed—a critically important opportunity for our children to know and play and pray with children of other colors, races and faiths.

7. The "New Liturgy" being used at 9:15 a.m. Sunday is winning approval. A questionnaire from the National Church will be distributed at the end of September for a critical evaluation by those who attend this service. It is already apparent that several liturgies will be used in the Church from now on. At 8 a.m. and at 11 a.m. we will use the glorious words from the 1928 revision of the Book of Common Prayer. Into the 9:15 a.m. celebration is introduced contemporary music and on July 28th a remarkably beautiful, devout dance interpretation of the Parable of the Rich Man and Lazarus. This produced a packed church! We will repeat this on September 8th at 9:15 a.m. using a small orchestra and a dance interpretation of the Parable of the Good Samaritan, adding the poem by e. e. cummings "a man who had fallen among thieves."

8. The new Baptistry will soon be completed. The window designed by Mark Adams, of San Francisco, is to be installed later this month. The Baptistry is given to us by the family of Polly Curtis Firestone, who often attended our parish. Her last visit before her death was for the baptism of a grandchild. It is hoped that we can dedicate this Baptistry early next month at the time of the baptism of another grandchild.

A PERSONAL REMARK:

We are living through some very difficult and painful times. And we all need, as never before, a strong and vibrant faith—Someone to believe in and cling to. Therefore I cannot understand why our church attendance is so sporadic. That this is a national phenomenon is even more alarming! We need every ounce of faith in God and ever possible opportunity to PRACTICE IT AND TO WITNESS TO HIM! I do not agree with all that the Church does or teaches these days. But after a year spent on the campus of the great University of California in Berkeley, and in association with our seminary there it seems to me that the future of Christianity lies in the parish church. Here is the aggregation of poor and rich (we have three families on welfare in All Saints'), civilian and military, well-educated and sensitive, joyful and troubled, resident and visitor, young and old. Here we join in loving Our Lord God, and through Him find our community in exciting new ways of association and love of one another. NOT ONE FACET OF THE CHRISTIAN FAITH HAS BEEN DIMINISHED IN OUR PARISH. God knows that we have expanded and involved more (not fewer) of the young and alienated, the old and distressed in our evangelistic work. Our parish is not founded on the motive of pleasing men but of honoring God (our only hope and strength). Yet by this means our deepest needs are met.

It has been an exciting summer. Several fine preachers have been with us, including a Jesuit! Our facilities have been used for the glorious music of the Bach Festival. There is no sensible reason why our buildings should not be filled constantly in these crucial days.

Fr. Farmer is hard at work preparing for the September 10th opening of the Day School. (Fr. Hugh Harris of Los Angeles is coming as a sixth grade teacher.) Our new deacon assistant, Arthur Cunningham, left to be married on August 24th in White Fish Bay, Wisconsin, to Miss Mary Taylor; he will return in-time for the September 8th opening of the Sunday School. Please remember the clergy in your prayers.

A parish-wide Quiet Day for all teachers, staff, officers of organizations and others will be held Saturday, September 14th from 10-2 p.m. ALL ARE INVITED.

Sincerely in Christ,
David Hill

Christian Science Sunday Sermon

"Verily, verily, I say unto you, He that believeth in me, the works that I do shall he do also; and greater works than these shall he do; because I go unto my Father.

This passage from the Gospel of John is part of the Responsive Reading in this week's Lesson-Sermon on "Christ Jesus" to be read Sunday in all Christian Science churches.

Related passages from the denominational textbook are also part of the Lesson-Sermon. Among those included this week is the following: "His consummate example was for the salvation of us all, but only through doing the works which he did and taught others to do. His purpose in healing was not alone to restore health, but to demonstrate his divine Principle. He was inspired by God, by Truth and Love, in all that he said and did" ("Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy).

SURRENDER TO SUMMER

In the cove
on the cool rocking waves, away from heat and dust of shore at rest, relaxed and somnolent a swimmer floats.
Even thus would I give myself, surrendering wholly to lie like a leaf
on the ocean of summer.

—Ethel Peak

SPURIOUS PEACE

The ocean has no peace.
Look there—the rush and surge of strong desires,
Tensions of moon-tethered tide,
Spawnings of deviant life.
What is our peace—
A vacuum's hush?
Escape from all the struggle of ascent?
Only a kin to the vivid mushroom sleeps Undesirous -
In its self-chosen dark.

—Jean Dudley
